

The Reader Board is Here!

A number of years ago, the PTSA purchased a reader board for our school. The installation of the board was delayed due to county restrictions on the number of signs per business allowed on a road. We already had that big granite monument with our LSMS name and pirate on it. The second sign was not legal.

You may have noticed that the granite stone was moved closer to the school's front door at the end of last summer. This was a large undertaking, but district grounds personnel were able to perform the move without damaging it. The granite sign now demarcates the front entrance which had sometimes been difficult to locate. Next, a concrete slab was laid for the new sign. And finally on January 14th the new reader board was installed out in front of the school. Hooray!

This will be an important communication tool for sharing information about LSMS with the community. We want to let parents know about school events, closures, and honors. We want the community to know about the exciting things happening at our school.

A huge thank-you to the PTSA parents of past years whose tireless work for our school funded the purchase of the reader board. Additional thanks go to the competent workers of the grounds crew who carefully moved over the traditional sign and installed the new one.
